You can get in touch with me to talk by emailing carla@carlasalvador.ca. Or leave me a message at the Helen Bowen Library. Then we can get together and figure out next steps.

Dear Editor

What a lovely tribute to Sue Warren, the personification of our library for the past quarter century! Please thank Austin for putting into works what probably many of us have thought, on and off, in bits and pieces, over the years. I'm sure Helen Bowen would have been thrilled to have such a generous successor.

Perhaps a copy of the "Ode" should be framed and displayed in the library as an inspiration to Sue's successors.

What is the world's largest fish?

When it comes to size no other fish can match the whale shark. Although this gentle giant feeds only on plankton and small fish, it can weigh more than two elephants! The largest specimen ever captured measured a whopping 18.5 metres (61 feet).

Now that is one whale of a fish!

What is the smallest fish?

The smallest fish in the world is the pygmy goby. A fully grown adult measures a mere 3 millimetres (1/8 of an inch)! This almost transparent fish makes its home in the freshwater streams and lakes of the Philippines. It also qualifies as the world's smallest vertebrate, or animal with a backbone.

Be Bear Wise and prevent bear encounters At the cottage

Most human-bear conflicts occur when bears are attracted by smells and rewarded with an easy meal. When bears pick up a scent with their keen noses, they will investigate it – even at your cottage. If bears are rewarded with feasts of bird food, garbage or pet food, they will return as long as the food source is available. It takes all cottagers working together to eliminate these attractants and to stop bear problems.

Whether you are closing the cottage for the season, or just between stays, you can take a few simple precautions to avoid problems with bears and other animals.

Here are some tips to help avoid these unwanted visitors:

- fill bird feeders only through the winter months
- keep your pets on a leash
- store garbage in a bear-resistant container with a tight-fitting lid, secure shed or garage
- do not store garbage in plywood boxes, old freezers or vehicles
- do not stockpile garbage — take it to an approved waste disposal site regularly
- if you have garbage pickup, only put garbage out on garbage day, not the night before
- keep meat scraps in the freezer until garbage day
- remove grease and food residue from barbecue grills, including the grease trap, after each use
- do not use outdoor fridges or freezers, including beverage fridges, as these may attract bears to your property
- do not put meat, fish or sweet food (including fruit) in your outdoor composter
- pick all ripe fruit off trees, and remove vegetables and fallen fruit from the ground
- never purposely feed bears (or other wildlife) or try to approach them
- encourage your neighbours to practice Bear Wise (<https://www.ontario.ca/page/prevent-bear-encounters-bear-wise>) habits

Before leaving your cottage

When leaving your cottage make sure to:

- remove your garbage: take it home or drop it off at an approved waste disposal site on your way
- use a strong disinfectant to eliminate all odours from garbage and recycling containers and lids
- never discard cooking grease outside: place it in a container with a lid, transfer it to a plastic bag and include it with other properly stored garbage
- take your barbecue with you when you leave the cottage, or clean it and store it in a secure shed

- do not leave any food or food scraps outdoors for pets or other wildlife
- when packing up, remember to remove all the food from the inside of your cottage
  - a box of pudding or fruit-flavoured dessert mix is all it takes to attract a bear
- do not leave scented products outside
  - even non-food items like suntan lotion, insect repellent, soap and candles attract bears
- close and lock all windows and doors
- if you are away for an extended period of time, have someone you trust check in and look for signs of a bear visitor or break in
- if you rent your cottage, tell your tenants the importance of being Bear Wise (<https://www.ontario.ca/page/prevent-bear-encounters-bear-wise>)

The Celebration of the Lost Birch Trees

Among our greatest losses from last year's ice storm were the many birch trees broken or forever bent. Although birches rarely live for a long time, most of us in areas where they do thrive find them particular favourites. Around here, they are often the first species to return after a fire has ravaged the land, and many gardeners favour them because of their unusual bark and enthusiastic growth.

Judith (Mansell) Darke is one of those who felt the loss of our birches keenly and made up her mind to do something about it. No, she didn't go out and plant a whole bunch more. Instead, as a quilter with a long history in our area, she decided to donate her birch tree quilt to the Cavendish Community Centre.

We have gratefully and enthusiastically accepted Judy's quilt and will hang it in the large upstairs room in the Community Centre. The quilt will be officially presented at 11 am on Carnival Day (July 18). Everyone is invited.

Judy first came to Cavendish with her family as a teenager in the 1950s. Later she raised her children at cottages on Mississauga Lake and Little Gull. She still has children, a sister and other relatives who live or cottage in Cavendish, as well as an entrepreneurial son elsewhere in Trent Lakes. In 2018, she returned to Lakefield and started practising her passion for quilting seriously. Over the years she has taught over 30 quilting workshops, and is now a member of the Buckhorn Area Quilters' Guild. When she heard about a 2-day workshop on quilting birch trees, she decided to take part. And then she spent many, many more days finishing the quilt. Judy says she "is honoured to donate the quilt recognizing her happiness in having lived in the Cavendish area."

We are honoured that she thought of us and gifted us a beautiful reminder of the sometimes fragile natural world in which we all live.

To minimize the risk of fire and burn injury, the fire service recommends attending public fireworks displays hosted by your municipality or other responsible organization. If you choose to have family fireworks or an informal neighbourhood display, follow these safety tips:

- ✓ Appoint a responsible person to be in charge.
- ✓ Carefully read and follow the label directions on fireworks' packaging.
- ✓ Always keep a water hose or pail of water close by when discharging fireworks.
- ✓ Discharge fireworks well away from combustible materials such as buildings, trees and dry grass.
- ✓ Keep onlookers a safe distance away, upwind from the area where fireworks are discharged.
- ✓ Light one firework at a time. Never light a firework in your hand or re-light dud fireworks.
- ✓ Discharge fireworks only if wind conditions do not create a safety hazard.
- ✓ Keep sparklers away from children. As the sparkler wire remains hot for some minutes after burnout, it should be immediately soaked in water to avoid injury.
- ✓ If someone gets burned, run cool water over the burn for three to five minutes.

It's a Part of Our History

Getting to the Lake – Then and Now

Each and every nail, board and piece of glass for any of camps/cottages which would be built on the shores of Bottle/Sucker Lakes, would first be brought to a water access point on Catchacoma Lake.

One such landing and perhaps one of the first on the lake was known as Cochranes Landing. It was located on the west side of Catchacoma, to the north of the two existing landings, but it has not been in business now for many years. Everything, it didn't matter what, had to then be taken out of one boat and carried over the dam on Bottle Creek, and then reloaded into another boat above the dam. The materials were then taken up Bottle Creek and to the far northwest side of Bottle Lake, only to be unloaded and carried again to their destination. It never seemed to matter at the time how much extra work this actually was, you just did what had to be done to get your food and belongings to the cottage. Whether you came for a day, or a weekend, a week or a month you brought with you what you needed. If you forgot it, you did without.

Several years later, Cochranes went out of business so the hunters and now cottagers had to find another access point by which to launch their boats and motors. They would now leave the shores of Catchacoma Lake via another landing owned by Piersons ---- He later sold the business to two German people (names unavailable) ---- they only owned it for a short time and they too sold the property to a man by the name of Judge ---- who after operating it for several years, sold the landing to Gary & Marilyn Weitzel. The Weitzel's presently still own and live on the property but no longer operate the marina.

In 1981, the second (highest) bridge at the end of the Beaver Lake Road was built. The cottagers around Gold and Anstruther Lakes now pooled their money and had continued the road making it so they could drive to their cottages. This rough road was brought up to the townships standards and therefore was maintained by the township. Shortly thereafter, cottagers on Beaver, McGinnis and Cavendish soon saw the advantages of being able to drive to their properties and they too had a road built in 1983-1984 which would from the newest bridge, basically follow one of the original roads used previously by the logging companies. This new and improved road would later on be taken over and maintained by the township as well. With the building of these roads, the marine's business on Catchacoma Lake would now slow down considerably, as many of their customs no longer needed their services. Presently there are still two marines on Catchacoma Lake, although they both operate on a smaller scale now.

Marine Safety

Whether you're cruising or fishing, proper boating practices will ensure a safe and enjoyable time on the water.

Wear Protection

If you don't wear it, it won't work. OPP data continues to show that eight out of ten victims who die in fatal boating incidents are not wearing a Personal Floatation Device (PFD). Many boaters who drown believe they are good swimmers, so they think having a PFD on board and within easy reach is good enough. But, most drownings happen unexpectedly when small boats capsize or someone falls overboard and can't grab that PFD.

Make sure you understand the operating instructions of your PFD and when choosing a lifejacket choose one that is suitable for the activity. Check the label to make sure that it is Canadian approved and finally, make sure it fits snugly. The Canadian Red Cross and Transport Canada have excellent information about PFDs and lifejackets on their websites.

Don't Drink and Boat

Drinking while boating is just as dangerous as drinking and driving and the very same laws apply. If you are caught operating a motorized or non-motorized vessel while impaired, you will also lose your ability to operate your motor vehicle. Drinking alcohol on boats is only allowed when the boat has sleeping, cooking and washroom facilities and is anchored or docked.

Know Your Boat

Familiarize yourself with the boat you are operating and be prepared. Most calls for assistance are due to mechanical breakdowns. When operating a non-motorized vessel, have safety equipment onboard such as a sound signalling device, flashlight, floating rope, and bailing bucket.

Be Wary of the Weather

Boaters should check the weather before heading out on the water and know how to interpret weather changes while on the water. Sudden changes in weather can occur without warning in many parts of the province. Sudden changes in wind can be particularly dangerous since this can quickly create high waves.

Many small pleasure craft are not designed to handle any great amount of wind and waves and can be easily swamped or capsized. When the forecast is poor, plan to stay ashore.

Cold water is also a factor all boaters should understand and prepare for, but little do. Death from sudden cold water immersion happens very, very quickly. When suddenly immersed, the first reaction is a sudden uncontrollable gasp, followed by 1 to 3 minutes of hyperventilation which will lead to the rapid onset of severe hypothermia.

The colder the water, the higher the death rates. Weather changes and water conditions never remain constant.

A Tale of 3 Dogs Part 2: Coco's Story

Janice is a cottager in Cavendish who has had a number of "companion animals." Like most of us, she does her best to give them good, healthy, outdoor lives. Sometimes even that backfires.

Janice reports that, "Coco, a chocolate lab, was surrendered to us at 9 months of age. Her previous family had had little time for her and she had spent much of her life in a crate. As a result, she was not well socialized with people or dogs, and was considerably overweight. Initially she struggled physically to keep up with our other 2 dogs, but she quickly embraced the joy of running free, chasing after deer and wild turkeys on our 10-acre country property. On occasion she would find voles or other rodents. During summers at the lake, Coco would swim for hours. She feared new people, but was loving and devoted to those she knew.

"When Coco was 9, we moved to the suburbs and she adapted to "city" living like a champ. Fortunately, she continued her habits of exploration in our fenced-in, forested ravine lot, hunting rodents (and learning 1 smelly lesson from a skunk). But the next June, Coco suddenly became ill. Despite several examinations, our vet could not determine the cause of her symptoms and multi-organ failure. She rapidly deteriorated and within weeks she was suddenly gone. She was barely 10 years old and we felt guilty that we could not help her.

"Not long afterwards a neighbour mentioned that a few nearby owners had mouse problems and had called pest control. Alarm bells immediately went off. All the symptoms Coco had displayed, such as decreased appetite, pale gums, swollen belly, weakness, muscle tremors and shaking, pointed to her cause of death – rodenticide poisoning. Too late we learned that rodents often remove bait from bait stations and stash it for later. Also, any poisoned rodent has the toxins in its body, and any predator who consumes it is also poisoned."

What Are Rodenticides and Why Are They a Problem?

As we learned from Torchy's story (April 2026), rodenticides are highly toxic compounds used to kill rodents. Most kill by preventing normal blood clotting, or by disturbing nervous system functions. They are enhanced with attractive flavours and colours and then commonly placed in and around homes, cottages and commercial areas to attract and kill unwanted wildlife.

Because rodenticides take days or weeks to kill the intended target, the dying rats and mice spend time in the open, moving slowly or not at all. And these poisons persist for more than a year in the liver of any animal that actually survives. This makes them easy prey. Prey for your dog. And, if a farm animal happens to eat one of those dying rodents, the poison can be passed on to you and me, and your children and grandchildren.

What Can We Do?

The Pesticides Regulatory Directorate (the new name for the Pest Management Regulatory Agency mentioned in Torchy's story; <https://www.canada.ca/en/health-canada/corporate/about-health-canada/branches-agencies/pest-management-regulatory-agency.htm>) has a mandate to:

- protect the health of Canadians and the environment against unacceptable risks from the use of pesticides, and
- encourage the development of sustainable pest management strategies consistent with the precautionary principle.

Therefore, it recommends exhausting methods of rodent management that minimize risks of harm to human health and the environment before choosing potentially harmful chemical products. But, this practice rarely happens. Therefore, current laws actually fail to protect wildlife, human health, companion animals and the environment from the dangers of rodenticides.

So, what to do? As well as mouse-proofing your home and avoiding having rodent-attracting food and garbage near it (see Rodenticide Free Ontario (RFO, rodenticidefree.ca), you can vote for council members who take the issue seriously. Remember, municipal elections are taking place this October – be sure that you are on the Voters' List, talk to the candidates about their agendas and then vote. As we will see in Riley's story (part 3 of A Tale of 3 Dogs [September issue]), some municipalities have already taken steps to protect their residents from rodenticide harm.

You can give the egotist much credit because he very seldom talks about other people.

Trouble with this life—one is halfway finished before he catches on it is do-it-yourself job.

Nothing can break up a discussion as fast as a fellow who knows what he is talking about.

Cavendish Branch Library

The staff and patrons of the Trent Lakes Public Library would like to send our warmest wishes to Sue Warren on her retirement.

After nearly 20 years as Branch Manager of the Cavendish Branch, Sue said goodbye to the library on May 27. For so many of us, Sue wasn't just the one who ran the library—she was a familiar face, a friendly voice, and a steady presence at the heart of our community.

Sue welcomed everyone who walked through the doors with a smile, always ready with a recommendation, a helping hand, or a quick chat. She cared deeply about Cavendish and showed it through the many events and fundraisers she helped bring to life over the years, from loonie auctions to community dinners. She also held a special place in her heart for local youth, and many will remember her from her years with the Cavendish Youth Group.

While Sue may be stepping away from her role at the library, she's not going far—and we know we'll still see her around. When you do, be sure to say hello and wish her all the best in this next chapter.

If you'd like to leave Sue a message, a card is available to sign at the Cavendish Branch.

Cavendish Library hours: Tuesdays 4:00 pm to 8:00 pm; Wednesdays and Saturdays 10:00am to 4:00 pm.

Recipe of the Month

Rhubarb cake

Ingredients:

|            |                 |          |        |
|------------|-----------------|----------|--------|
| 1/4 cup    | Softened butter | Topping: |        |
| 1 1/2 cups | Brown sugar     | 1/2 cup  | Sugar  |
| 1          | Egg             | 1/2 tsp  | Nutmeg |
| 1 tbsps    | Vanilla         |          |        |
| 2 1/3 cups | Flour           |          |        |
| 1 tsp      | Baking soda     |          |        |
| 1/2 tsp    | Salt            |          |        |
| 1 cup      | Sour cream      |          |        |
| 4 cups     | Chopped rhubarb |          |        |

Preparation:

Cream together butter and sugar. Beat in egg and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients. Gradually stir into butter mixture. Fold in sour cream and rhubarb. (If batter is a little stiff, just pour in a little milk.) Grease 13"x9" glass pan. Bake at 350oF for 40 minutes. Stir together the topping and sprinkle over batter. Excellent warm with ice cream.

KITCHEN TIP

Add a pat of butter to boiling water when cooking potatoes, vegetables, pasta or rice. This will keep the water from foaming up and boiling over.

COTTAGERS | Action Plan

Keep invasive species away from your cottage — they will ruin the fun for everyone. To stop the spread, make sure you and your guests know the plan.

1. USE LOCAL FIREWOOD

Firewood may carry an invasive pest or disease that could harm our forests. Avoid transporting it across long distances. Buy and burn local firewood instead.

2. CLEAN YOUR GEAR

Before heading to or from the cottage, be sure to clean all of your gear. Make sure your watercraft, trailers, bicycles, all-terrain vehicles and boot bottoms are free of plant material and seeds, including mud that may contain seeds..

3. GROOM YOUR PETS

Give your pet's coat a good brushing to remove any seeds or plant parts it might have picked up.

4. NEVER RELEASE YOUR PETS

Never release aquarium plants or pets at the cottage or anywhere else. Some pets like goldfish are an invasive species.

5. GARDEN RESPONSIBLY

Choose native or non-invasive plants for your garden to avoid introducing or spreading invasive species. Avoid relocating plants from your home to your cottage garden, and vice versa. Do not dump yard waste in nearby natural areas as this can smother natural vegetation and spread invasive plants.

6. KEEP AN EYE OUT

Inspect your property and shoreline for any sign of invasion. To find out what species may be threatening your area, visit eddmaps.org/ontario.

7. REMOVE INVADERS RESPONSIBLY

Read the Ontario Invasive Plants Council's Best Management Practice Series to learn how to safely dispose of common invasive plants and more about how to manage them.

8. REPORT ALL INVADERS

Call the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters' Invading Species Hotline at 1-800-563-7711 to report an invasive species sighting or download the EDDMaps Ontario app to report an invader on the spot.

9. STOP THE INVASION

To learn more about how you can stop the invasion, visit ontario.ca/invasionON to download action plans for Boaters, Hikers, Cottagers and Gardeners.

RESPONSIBLE BOATING

Boat Wake

Boat wake can damage shorelines and wash out loons' nests. Keep enhanced wake activities (tubing and wake boarding) a considerable distance from shore. Be respectful of small craft on the lake.

Wear a Lifejacket

You must carry one properly fitted, Transport Canada-approved lifejacket or personal flotation device (PFD) for every person on board any watercraft, including kayaks and paddleboards. Wearing a lifejacket can save lives.

Safety Equipment

1 buoyant heaving line
at least 15 m (49'3") long
1 paddle
1 bailing device
1 whistle
1 watertight flashlight
See Transport Canada's Safe Boating Guide for more details

Watercraft can easily carry invasive species on trailers, motors, and gear—or in standing water like bait buckets, live wells, and bilges. When boats move between waterbodies, these species can spread and establish. Provinces, including Ontario, regulate watercraft as "carriers" of invasive species. Since January 2022, Ontario requires boaters to remove visible plants and debris and drain all water before transporting boats, vehicles and other gear over land.

- Clean the hull, rudder, and propeller with a brush.
- Drain the bilge, live wells, motor, and anything containing water.
- Dry for 2-7 days or disinfect with hot or pressurized water.

Clean any plants, mud, mussels or debris from your boat and equipment.

Drain all standing water from your bilge, motor and livewell.

Dry your boat for 2-7 days or disinfect it with hot or pressurized water.

Here are common places aquatic invasive species may be hiding:
